

Getting ready for the conference in August

An updated version of the basic programme of the NSFS conference in August is now ready. The overall features of the programme are fixed, but small adjustments to the time schedule may still occur.

Find the programme here at the NSFS website

An updated version of the full scientific programme is also available.